

The background is a vibrant, abstract composition of overlapping brushstrokes and washes of color. The palette includes bright reds, oranges, yellows, greens, and blues, creating a sense of movement and energy. The strokes vary in thickness and direction, giving the background a textured, painterly quality.

Please keep in mind that the process of printing can leave a lot to be desired when it comes to accurate color reproduction. I use some pretty outrageous pinks, reds and purples, which may not look as vibrant in the book as they are in person. I wish you could come visit my studio and see them in the flesh!

A 20-Year Retrospective

ANGELA TREAT LYON • PAINTINGS, PASTELS & STONE SCULPTURE

INTRODUCTION

What you are looking at is a compendium of some of my best work from the last 20+ years, starting in 1999. As you will be able to see, I'm a freak for exploration - I never stick to one medium or style for very long. It's all about the "what if I did (experiment)? Let's see how I can do (another experiment)." Each medium has its own specific creative parameters within which to play, and I consider it outrageous fun to push the limits and see what I can get.

I become enthralled with the medium of the moment, whether it's pastels, oils, acrylics or gouaches (a type of opaque water-based paint, almost like temperas, but finer). I somehow am able to blast ahead for hours and days and weeks, and produce tens, if not hundreds, of pieces in the style or medium. And then ... suddenly the juice of curiosity is gone and I never return to it.

In 2015 I played with alcohol inks for weeks, producing over 100 paintings, and at the end, I put together a big 12" x 12" art book featuring them. In 2019 it was watercolors - I created 476 paintings in less than 6 months. See what I mean? I become a maniac! I can't seem to sleep or eat or do anything else - it's all about the play! I dream about it at night, even.

I haven't included either of those bodies of work in this book - I plan to do more later. I did publish a couple of books about my watercolors, which are on Amazon.com, plus other books on my drawings, sculpture and other work. This is the first book in which I have published my new work from 2020, and the work from when I was Artist-in-Residence in Gore, New Zealand from 2000-2002. My focus there was the beautiful limestone from the quarries at Oamaru and Mt. Somers (which sadly is now closed). I did some of my best work there.

I hope you enjoy all the art - whether stone or paint - I like making art that makes people happy! If you have questions, or want to see about a commission or a special request, please don't hesitate to contact me.

Much Love and Aloha,
Angela
